MARATHON NEAR; PHYSICIANS NEEDED

Physician volunteers are still needed to bolster the Medical Task Force at the second Cowtown Marathon Saturday, Feb. 23. Physicians are to be stationed every two and one-half miles along the 26.2-mile route.

Interested doctors are asked to call Dr. Scott Taylor, head of the task force, in emergency medicine, 735-2301.

Runners are still signing up for the race. As of Wednesday afternoon, 650 had already registered, with several hundred more expected as corporate entries come in. Runners may register up until 8 a.m. the day of the race, but the fee goes from $6 to $10 after Feb. 18. The Institute for Human Fitness, which is sponsoring the marathon along with Fort Worth National Bank and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is taking applications.

If running half way around Fort Worth doesn't appeal to you, come out and cheer those who are doing it. Cheerers are welcome all along the route, which will be mapped out in a coming issue of the Star-Telegram.

The marathon begins from the Cowtown Coliseum, 123 E. Exchange Ave., at 9 a.m., followed by the start of the 10K run (a mere 6.2 miles) at 9:30. The awards ceremony is planned at the coliseum for about 3 p.m.

The pre-race Cowtown Clinic will be held Friday, Feb. 22, in the ballroom of the downtown Hilton Inn, marathon headquarters.

Speakers following the 9 a.m. registration and welcome will include Derek Clayton, who holds the world marathon record of 2:08:33.6; Hal Higdon, the only runner to have won national AAU titles at the junior, senior and masters levels; Joe Henderson, who has written eight books on running; Dr. Jack Wilmore, past president of the American College of Sports Medicine; Preston Davis, champion runner and coach; and Francie Larrieu, holder of the women's world indoor record for the mile. Registrations for the all-day seminar are $10 with an optional $3.80 spaghetti lunch at the Institute for Human Fitness.

SANDERS FUND DONATIONS ACCEPTED

Donations to the James G. Sanders Jr. Memorial Fund are still being taken in the Office of the Dean. Sanders' family had asked that donations be made to the fund in lieu of flowers.

Sanders, a fourth-year student, died Feb. 3 at 3:50 a.m. in a one-car accident in Tyler. He was serving an elective rotation in pulmonary medicine at the UT Health Science Center there. Funeral services were held Feb. 7 at Greenwood Memorial Park.

BURNS TALK RESET FOR MARCH 19

The talk by Dr. Chester Burns, delayed because of the funeral observance for James Sanders Jr., has been reset for March 19 at 4 p.m. in Room 506 of Med Ed I. Dr. Burns, associate director of the Institute for the Medical Humanities at the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, will speak on "The Many Faces of Health."

McINTYRE SET FOR SEMINAR, TV GUEST SPOT

Russell McIntyre, Th.D., from the faculty of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, will keynote a seminar on "Death and Dying, and the Health Care Professional" on Saturday, Feb. 16.

He also will be the featured guest on "The Charlie Rose Show" Friday, Feb. 15, at 9 a.m.

Dr. McIntyre's address on Saturday morning at 9 will be on "Medical Ethics and the Dying Patient." Afternoon workshops will deal with legal questions, coping, hospices, grief, children and the right to decide.

Dean Ralph L. Willard will welcome participants at 7 p.m. Friday before a dramatic presentation, "You Didn't Know My Father." The play will be followed by a discussion led by Dr. John-Henry Pfifferling, co-director of the Center for the Well-Being of Health Professionals in Chapel Hill, N.C.

The seminar is sponsored by TCOM, SOMA and the Family and Individual Services Association.

AUDIENCE NEEDED

Anyone who would like to be in the audience of "The Charlie Rose Show" on Feb. 15 is asked to call news and information services, 735-2550. Rose's guest for the live 9 a.m. broadcast will be TCOM visiting lecturer Dr. Russell McIntyre.

FILM, DISCUSSION OPEN TO PUBLIC THURSDAY

"The Anatomy Lesson," a film of the Royal Dutch Ballet performing the ballet based on Rembrandt's painting of the same name, will be shown in the auditorium of Med Ed I on Thursday, Feb. 14, followed by a panel discussion. The film, part of "The Many Faces of Man" series, is open to the public at 7:30 p.m. Members of the panel discussing the film will be Jerry Bywaters Cochran of TCU's division of ballet and modern dance; Dr. Roy Martin, M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Houston; Dr. Russell L. McIntyre, College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey; Dr. Mary Lou Schunder, chairperson, TCOM department of anatomy; and moderator Dr. Charles D. Ogilvie, chairman, TCOM department of medical humanities.

The presentation of the film by the departments of anatomy and medical humanities is made possible by a grant from the Texas Committee for the Humanities, a state program of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

DEADLINE NEARS FOR TCOM ARTISTS

Friday, Feb. 22, is the last day for registering for the all-TCOM art show to be displayed in the atrium March 3-28. Faculty, staff and students are invited to enter two pieces of art or photographs in the contest, which will be judged by people who visit the exhibit.

Registration forms are available from the contest's sponsor, the department of medical humanities, 870-5255.

FREE BODY COURSE STARTS FEB. 19

"How Does Your Body Work?," a free introductory course in human physiology for the adult public, will be offered again this spring by the department of physiology. Dr. James L. Caffrey will teach the course in Room 506 every Tuesday night from 7:30 to 9 beginning Feb. 19. Fifty people had registered by Wednesday morning, and space is limited. Call 735-2310 to sign up or get additional information.

WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET AT TURNER HOME

The TCOM Faculty Women's Club will meet Thursday, Feb. 14, at 11:30 a.m. for a salad luncheon at the home of Yvonne Turner.

The All Saints Girls' Choral Group will perform from 11:30 to noon, and after lunch Mrs. Turner will present a program on antique greeting cards. A short business meeting will follow. Call Bette Conn at 731-4636 for more information.

RACQUETBALLERS, SIGN UP!

Deadline for signing up for the Fort Worth Osteopathic Racquetball Tournament is Friday, Feb. 22. The double-elimination tournament, which begins March 1 at the Racquetball Club of Fort Worth on the Benbrook Highway, is open to staff, faculty, students, families and anyone associated with osteopathic facilities in the area. Contestants may choose four categories according to skill level. For more contest rules and registration blanks, call Laurie Wayman in student services, 735-2209.

SECOND AEROBIC SESSIONS START TUESDAY

The second set of aerobic dance classes will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from Feb. 12 to March 6 at Arlington Heights United Methodist Church, 4200 Camp Bowie. The classes, conducted by the Institute for Human Fitness, meet at 12:15 and 5:30 p.m. TCOM students, faculty, staff and spouses are invited to sign up for $15 in the institute office in River Plaza. Mike Fitzsimmons, 870-5243, has additional information.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

Elmer Brown, instructor in rehabilitation/sports medicine, will spend three weeks beginning March 23 in Taiwan working with Olympics-bound athletes and trainers. He received the invitation from Taiwan's amateur athletic union to work with personnel in recognizing and rehabilitating sports injuries.

During our one brief ice storm Jan. 29, Craig Elam, associate director of technical services in the library, fell on his way to work and broke his arm.

Dr. John Measel Jr., assistant professor in microbiology and immunology, discussed his work with the Arthritis Foundation and related research work on Channel 11's "Talk with Scott" program Feb. 2.

Dr. L.L. Bunnell spoke to the Godley PTA on Jan. 28 about the new Godley Family Practice Clinic.

Bill Ringer, fourth-year student, and his wife are the parents of a new little boy.

Runners in the recent Houston marathon included Dr. Joel Alter, associate professor of surgery (time 3:34), Dr. Bob Patton, associate professor of physiology (3:06) and Dr. Bob Kaman, acting director of the Institute for Human Fitness (4:14). Dr. Charles Ogilvie, chairman of medical humanities, came in second in the over-50 group in the Bermuda Marathon two weeks ago with a time of 3:24.45.

Dr. Elroy Cantrell, chairman of pharmacology, has returned from Columbia, Mo., where he prepared two manuscripts to be published soon in the proceedings of the International Symposium on Health Effects of Diesel Engine Emissions.

Dr. Robert Gracy, chairman of biochemistry, is attending back-to-back meetings over the weekend. The first is a gathering in Florida of department chairmen from U.S. medical school. He has been invited to the second, a National Institute on Aging meeting in Baltimore, to talk about the school's research on the aging of the immune system.

WELCOME TAAHP!

Pre-medical and pre-dental advisors from throughout Texas are meeting at TCOM Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8-9, for the 11th Conference for the Health Professions Advisors in Texas.

Hosted by the Office of Admissions, the meeting runs all day Friday in the Auditorium of Med Ed I, with tours of that facility from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and lunch in the atrium.

Dr. Charles Ogilvie, chairman of the department of medical humanities, will discuss "Medical Education Looks Ahead" as the keynote speaker at a banquet Friday night at Kahler-Green Oaks Inn.

Dr. Irvin Korr, professor of medical education, was scheduled to speak on "Research in Osteopathic Medicine" at 10:30 a.m.
