SSP plans seminar

The TCOM chapter of Sigma Sigma Phi, a national osteopathic honor society, will sponsor the first annual Medical Seminar from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., April 23, at the Ramada Inn, according to student-doctor Robert Marsh, seminar chairman. Topic for the one-day event will be gastroenterology.

Speakers will be Dr. Jay Beckwith, clinical associate professor of medicine; Dr. Robert Nelson, clinical associate professor of radiology; Dr. Ivan Danhof, professor of physiology at The University of Texas Health Science Center (UTHSC) at Dallas; and Dr. Allen Rubin, clinical assistant professor of internal medicine at UTHSC at Dallas.

Areas to be discussed by the speakers are peptic ulcer disease, Dr. Beckwith; gall bladder disease, Dr. Nelson; gastric hormones, Dr. Danhof; and malabsorption, Dr. Rubin.

Student-doctor Marsh said the seminar is open to all students, faculty and physicians in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and no registration fee is required. Four hours of continuing medical education credits have been applied for through the American Osteopathic Association.

New discount available

If two dinners for the price of one sounds like something you would be interested in, contact either the Personnel Office or the Student Services Office about a new discount being offered to students, faculty and staff. For $12 you can join the Carriage Trade Dinner Club and receive two dinners for the price of one at several area restaurants. This discount is good through Aug. 31.

DATELINE is published every other Friday for members of the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine community, Verlie McAlister, editor. Deadline for submission of written material is noon Monday before publication. The information is collected, edited and written in the Public Information Office, Ext. 62.

SSA increases loan fund

The Students' Spouses Auxiliary has increased its emergency loan fund from $200 to $300, according to Sue Spain, publicity chairman. Available to spouses of SSA members, the loan fund is administered at TCOM by Judy Slagle, financial aid officer.
